Farmer Of The Year To Be Honored At Banquet In April

Mr. and Mrs. John E. (Ben) Folmar and family were selected as one of the six outstanding farm families in the state of Alabama at the Annual Farmers Conference, at Tuskegee Institute, January 13, 1965.

They were interviewed by James I. Dawson, Vocational Agriculture Teacher at Mulberry Heights High School, Elba, Alabama.

Each year six farmers and their families are selected on the basis of their success in farming and are asked to be interviewed at the farmers conference. In his success story, Folmar told the group that he became interested in farming at the age of 10 when his mother gave him a brood sow. From that brood sow have come 87 acres of land, a modern home, with all modern conveniences, two tractors and equipment, three trucks, two peanut pickers, and a family car.

Folmar rents 150 acres of land in addition to that he owns. Last year he made 69 bales of cotton on 56 acres, 40 tons of peanuts on 60 acres and 75 tons of corn on 40 acres.

His pasture program consists of 45 acres of general permanent pasture and 36 acres of improved pasture, using bahia as his main pasture grass. He has six brood sows and eight brood cows, but plans to increase his livestock this year.

He is also in the pulp wood business, working at it during the slack farming season.

The Folmars have two children, John T. and Helen Sue Folmar, ages 10 and 16, respectively.

He is a member of Bethlehem Baptist Church, where he serves on the deacon board. He is also active in all community activities.

Folmar states that his future farming plans are to increase his land ownership, increase his livestock and improve his record keeping system. He will be honored as the farmer of the year at the Mulberry Heights High School Chapter of New Farmers of America Father-Son Banquet sometime in April.

The feed grain program for 1965 is basically the same as in 1964. It is voluntary and applies to corn, grain sorghum and barley.

Participating farmers may qualify for diverted-acre payments and price-support payments, and they will be eligible for price-support loans on their corn, grain sorghum and barley.

Mr. Ellis points out that signing up is a necessary first step in taking part in the feed grain program. The sign-up covers the period February 8 through March 20. It will be held at the ASOS County Office.

The key figures for estimating diverted acres and diversion payments are 20, 40, and 50, the Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers today.

The minimum diversion under the feed grain program is 20 percent of the feed grain base.

The maximum diversion is 50 percent of the base, or 25.0 acres whichever is larger. No farmer may divert more than the base.

There are two diversion-payment rates. If the grower signs up and diversifies only the minimum acreage, his diversion payment will be figured at the lower rate, one-fifth of the county's total price-support rate (price-support loan plus the price-support payment). If the grower diversifies between 20 and 40 percent of his base, the lower rate applies to the minimum diversion and the higher rate to the balance diverted. The higher rate is one-half the county's total support rate. But if the grower signs up and actually diversifies at least 40 percent of the base, the entire acreage diverted, Farmers signing up in both the wheat and feed grain programs may divert either feed grains or wheat under the program's substitution plan, and in this case the diversion payments will be based on the actual crop reduced. Under this plan, any acreage credited to diversion from feed grains in excess of the signed intention would be paid for at the minimum feed grain diversion rate.

He asked citizens of Alabama to give conscientious thought to education during the forthcoming weeks.

ELBA EXCHANGE BANK ANNOUNCES OPEN HOUSE

The Elba Exchange Bank is announcing Open House for Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 2 until 6 o'clock each of the two afternoons. Many merchants and individuals are joining in congratulations to the Elba Exchange Bank and wishing them much success in their beautiful new building.

The new building pictured on this page contains 5,777 square feet. The building is constructed of dark range St. Joe brick on a 20,000 square foot lot with a drive-in window and parking area for twenty-four cars.

A time and temperature clock has been erected on the southwest corner of the lot. This clock gives the accurate time and temperature twenty-four hours a day, and from now on, Elba residents will know just when to take off their coats, loosen ties, and roll up their sleeves. A copper shield through the indicating screen into shadow, so that the lighted numerals are visible in daylight as well as at night. This new type time and temperature indicator was perfected by the American Sign and Indicator Corporation of Spokane, Washington. This is the first sign of its kind in this region.

The Elba Exchange Bank was organized and held its formal opening January 15, 1958 with John F. Brunson, president. The bank began with a capital stock of $25,000 and a surplus of $5,000, all of which had been fully paid in. All stock was owned by Elba people and those of the surrounding territory who were interested in the business welfare and development of the city. Officers were John F. Brunson, president, the late E. G. Bragg, vice president, the late T. B. Bryan, cashier. The Board of Directors were those named and the additional members: the late J. C. Fleming, Dr. E. T. Brunson, the late T. T. Rhodes, and the late C. E. Dorsey, Jr.

The bank was organized with 72 stockholders with 250 shares of stock for $120,000 each which was very hard to sell, according to Mr. John, as he is familiarly known to his many friends. Prior to the forming of the Elba Exchange Bank, Mr. John operated the Elba Merchants Exchange from the fall of 1931 until the bank was formed in January, 1958. The Elba Exchange Bank now has a capital stock of $200,000.00, a surplus of $100,000.00, undivided profits of $94,600.90 and retained earnings of $54,232.30, a total of $249,833.20.

Brunson will discuss the Small Business Administration program and how it can enable local business firms to expand and how it can assist in bringing about new industries to the area.

Easters urges all business men, county and city officials and all who are interested in the Chamber and its work to attend the Monday night meeting. This will be the regular February meeting which has been changed from the regular Tuesday night for this month.

The meeting will be a regular dinner meeting at Paul's Cafe at 7 o'clock. Mr. Brunson is a native of Elba and a graduate of Elba High School. He is the son of Mrs. Zelma Rowe Brunson and the late Arthur Clair Brunson of Elba. He is married to the former Gwendolyn Boutwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moley Boutwell, of Elba, and they have five children. Rowe was appointed manager of the Alabama office of the Small Business Administration after being recommended by Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman, who reported that wide support for his appointment came from city and county officials throughout Alabama.

The Birmingham SBA office serves the entire state of Alabama as well as part of northwest Florida. Senator Sparkman is chairman of the Senate Select Committee of Small Business.

Shoulda' Used Silver Shot

A duck hunter, proud of his skill with a shotgun, brought a friend one early morning to witness his marksmanship. After some time, a lone duck flew over the blind.

"Now, Joe," he whispered, "watch this."

He took aim and fired. The duck flew serenely on. The hunter shook his head in amazement.

"Joe, my boy, you're behaving a miracle. There," he muttered, "flies a dead duck."

MYSTERY SCENE - Most of you see this scene every day but hurry and be the first to tell us where it is.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Hayward Springs was the first to recognize last week's scene which is located on the Blackrock-Curtis Road. This road was recently blacktopped and at the place where the picture was taken is very pretty.

1/2 Million $$ Crop

Overlooked Says Todd

Well over one-half million dollars are overlooked in the production of cucumbers, according to a recent survey made by the department which shows cucumber growers average an annual gross income of $400 per acre of production.

"With proper irrigation, fertilization and pest control, $1,000 per acre can be made," he said.

The Whitfield company, said Todd, offers producers a growers contact which will guarantee the farmer a definite market and price for his crop.

"This is a perfect opportunity for those who are not profiting from their present crops to increase their income," he said.

Information for those seeking more details can be obtained by writing the Whitfield Pickle Company, North County Street, Montgomery, Alabama.

Household Hints

Chrysanthemums can bring a variety of bold colors to your garden from mid-July until killing frost. Well-rooted cuttings quickly establish themselves in the soil and they bloom the same year they are planted.

Keep an old toothbrush near the kitchen sink for getting egg yolk off fork tines, for cleaning around push buttons on the stove and cleaning around knobs.

State's Aid To Blind Payments Up

Alabama's aid to blind payment is above the $65.57 average for the 12 Southern states and compares far more favorably with the $85.29 national average than was true a year ago, according to Governor George C. Wallace.

The 1963-64 fiscal year began with a $47.78 average blind payment and by November, 1964, it had reached $67.80. For that month, 21 counties had averages above $70, with the highest being $83.13 in Tallapoosa County. The Morgan County average was $79.38 and that in Conecuh, $78.29, Governor Wallace said.

The other counties with over $70 payments are: Autauga, $70.43; Coffee, $74.20; Coosa, $71.88; Covington, $76.38; Crenshaw, $72.20; Elmore, $71.67; Fayette, $74.74; Hale, $70.25; Houston, $71.35; Jackson, $74.66; Lamar, $74.19; Lee, $75.94; Lowndes, $77.33; Marion, $70.67; Marshall, $72.86; Pike, $70.22; Randolph, $73.31; and Shelby, $70.79.

Feed Grain Program

Rates Described By Ellis

Farmers taking part in the 1965 feed grain program may get the top rate of payment on the entire acreage diverted into conserving uses if they sign up and actually divert at least 40 percent of the farm's feed grain base, Roy L. Ellis, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers today.

The key figures for estimating diverted acres and diversion payments are 20, 40, and 50. Mr. Ellis explained, The minimum diversion under the feed grain program is 20 percent of the farm's total feed grain base. The maximum diversion is 50 percent of the base, and the rate of payment is based on the percentage of the base diverted.

If the grower signs up and actually diverts only the minimum acreage, his diversion payment will be figured at the lower rate—one fifth of the county's total price-support rate (price-support loan plus the price-support payment).

If the grower diverts between 20 and 40 percent of his base, the lower rate applies to the minimum diversion and the higher rate to the balance diverted.

The higher rate is one-half the county's total support rate.

But if the grower signs up and actually diverts at least 40 percent of the base, the higher rate will apply to the entire acreage diverted.

Farmers signing up in both the wheat and feed grain programs may divert either feed grains or wheat grain base, Roy L. Ellis, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers today.

YOUR Health

Your health is presented by the Alabama Association of Health Officers of the State of Alabama.

A furuncle is a staphylococcal infection, better known as a boil. An infection less severe than a furuncle is called a folliculitis. Folliculitis does not involve the surrounding skin or deep tissues. The furuncle type presents a more extensive and invasive follicular or sebaceous gland infection. There is itching and some pain, followed by swelling and redness of the skin in the area. The overlying skin becomes thickened, tense, shiny, and painful. Sometimes furuncles or boils will open spontaneously and drain but in many instances surgical drainage is necessary.

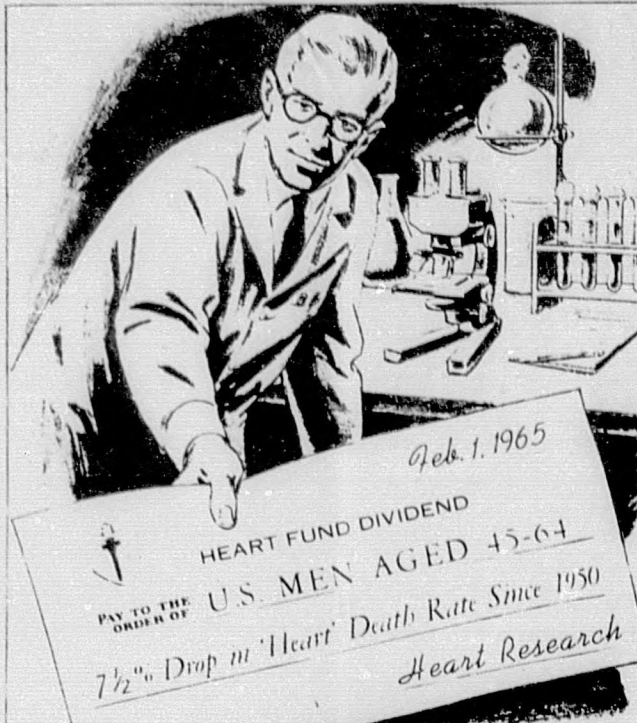

Furuncles are more or less common, and the person with a boil is well advised to refrain from squeezing it, as squeezing sometimes spreads the infection, causing prolonged discomfort. These infections appear ordinarily on the face, neck, buttocks, thighs, upper back or breasts. Such boils often affect the area where friction of the skin occurs, such as the collar line in men. Staphylococcal infection within the thick skin of the back of the neck and upper back may take a form called carbuncle, which is a boil that has spread. Carbuncles can become very large, and due to the thickness and lack of passage way through the skin, they do not drain easily and lead to deep involvement of the skin.

ASTHMA IS A CHRONIC ILLNESS
Its victims have breathing difficulties. Attacks are usually mild. Fortunately it is not contagious. But if neglected, asthma increases in severity and endangers health. It may be caused by an allergy, infection or even nervous tension.
If you think you have asthma, don't attempt self treatment. It is almost impossible for anyone but a physician to diagnose the cause. With proper medical treatment asthma can be kept under control and often cured.

these two pests could very easily make Coffee County folks an extra hundred dollars or so.

One big limiting factor in the profitable production of peanuts, cotton, and corn in Coffee County is the lack of lime. Lime makes other nutrients available as well as supplying calcium. You still have plenty of time to collect soil samples to be sent to the laboratory at Auburn for testing.

Blackbird Population Creating Problem
Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley announced Thursday that three other states are supporting Alabama's efforts to solve the pressing problem of an excessive blackbird population.

Kelley said that conservation officials in Georgia, South Carolina and Maryland have informed him of similar problems in their respective states and that they are joining their efforts to secure greater assistance from the U.S. Department of Interior in reducing blackbird numbers. There are an estimated 50 million blackbirds in Alabama today and they are consuming approximately 1,384 tons of food per day.

Veterans Urged To Avoid Riding Grace Period
Veterans are urged to drop the bad habit of "riding" the 31-day grace period, following overdue premium payments, the Veterans Administration said today.

Such a resolution during 1965 can save hundreds of policies that otherwise will lapse.

Experience proves that waiting for the grace period too often results in forgetting the deadline, and allowing policies to lapse, the VA pointed out.

Older veterans and those with disabilities should be especially careful since they may not be able to obtain other insurance except at much higher rates.

Protect That Smile

Tooth decay afflicts more people today than any other disease. Dr. C. D. McLeod of the Coffee County Health Department said today. About 95% of the entire population of the United States is affected. Fifty percent of all 2-year olds have one or more decayed primary teeth while permanent teeth are being formed beneath them in the jaw. By the time they reach the youthful age of 15, they already have an average of nine decayed "permanent" teeth.

In addition to the necessity for proper chewing, comfort, general well-being and pleasing appearance, teeth are important in helping shape the mouth and face. It is obvious that decay prevention cannot be started too early. Diseased teeth or gums can interfere with proper growth and development. Furthermore, dental disease can trigger serious disease elsewhere in the body. And isn't it better to visit a dentist regularly for preventive check-ups instead of suffering all night or longer with an agonizing toothache, often to find that teeth have to be pulled because damage has gone too far?

Your doctor can give you important information about proper diet and the right time to take young children to a dentist for a check-up. Certainly this should be done before first starting school. The dentist can prevent costly damage before it occurs, and when discovered early enough, can repair damage so that it does not become worse. He can also give you the best advice on proper dental care at home.

BLEED THROUGH

WOMEN'S HEALTH

Most tumors of the ovaries and uterus cause needless panic among women, doctors find. They're usually non-cancerous, but without treatment they may interfere with childbearing.

The most common uterine tumor, a rarely malignant "fibroid," develops in about four out of 10 women, says Dr. S. L. Leon, of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. Often it does not have to be removed. When it does, the uterus can be saved in many cases.

Some ovarian tumors are fluid-containing cysts. In women under 40 they're usually benign but are removed if they become too large. Early discovery may keep them from preventing pregnancy.

One out of 18 babies born in the U.S. each year is born out-of-wedlock, according to figures released recently by the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS). Between 1940 and 1961, says PHS, the nation's out-of-wedlock births rose from 37.9 per 1,000 live births to 46.3 -- an increase of nearly 25 percent.

Put another way, more than 600 out-of-wedlock babies are born every day of the year to women and girls of every race, religion, and economic group. Experts estimate that for every one out-of-wedlock birth there are almost five abortions, and that each year 1,000,000 illegal abortions are performed in the U.S.

Tension can wear down the human body even as infection does. For the harassed mother who has to be chauffeured, coaxed, maid, shopper, counselor, for the career woman who must combine job with home-making, for the man who is confronted with all sorts of crises at home and at work, the illness that once afflicted President Eisenhower, suggests a simple remedy: Take a two-hour vacation as often as you can manage.

Walk briskly to a library and browse; walk to a park or botanical garden and stroll about, enjoying the out-of-doors. Eat an unhurried picnic lunch under a tree in your city's park. It's a welcome change from a crowded restaurant.

Every community has some attraction to which its harassed citizens can escape: a zoo, a park, an interesting shop, unexplored countryside.

Break the day's routine and tension—the life you're conserving is a precious one.

A possibly significant use of oral contraceptives has recently been reported by doctors Francis J. Kane, Jr. and Martin H. Keeler, of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine. "The pill," sometimes used alone, sometimes in combination with other drugs, alleviates depression and other dis-treasing symptoms of mental illness experienced by some women who have just given birth. Drs. Kane and Keeler reported their observations at the 58th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association, Memphis, Tennessee.

One of the doctors observed, "We believe our results warrant continued appraisal of this medication under well-controlled and well-supervised conditions."

It is, an inflammation of the ileitis, a part of the small intestine. This was the illness that once afflicted President Eisenhower. Also: arthritis, joint inflammation.

-osis, a condition, in endometriosis, a condition in which tissue normally making up the endometrium, or lining of the uterus, also appears elsewhere in the pelvic region.

Fertilizer Plant To Be Completed In Dothan

A huge nitrogen fertilizer plant owned by farmer stockholders is scheduled for completion in Dothan, Alabama, early in 1965. Its location in this wiregrass capital is expected to have a revolutionary effect on agriculture in this section.

More than 100 people will be employed by the new industry.

The plant, a project of the newly organized United Chemical Corporation, is scheduled to be located on a tract fronting Alabama Highway 134 between Headland and Midland City. The site covers more than 220 acres. The new plant will be one of the largest industries of its type in Alabama.

Contracts have been awarded for site preparation and for erection of the office, warehouse, shop and storage facilities building. Grading is two-thirds completed. Construction of the office building began last week.

Letters of Intent have been issued to Girdler Corporation of Louisville, Kentucky, for construction of the ammonia, nitric acid, and ammonium nitrate plants. Negotiations are continuing with Girdler for construction of certain off-site facilities.

A letter of Intent also has been issued to Fertilizer Engineering and Equipment Company of Green Bay, Wisconsin, for the diammonium phosphate and complex fertilizer plant. Negotiations are also continuing with the Wisconsin firm for the bulk complex storage and bagging facility.

Utilities for the large plant will be provided by the Southeast Alabama Gas District (natural gas) and the Alabama Power Company (electric power). The company's offices are discussing contracts with water well drilling contractors to provide the ample water needs of the plant.

Linguistics Study At University Of Alabama

Do you say mantel or fireboard? Press peach or cling peach? Gallery or porch?

What you say—and how you say it—reveals more about you than you may think.

Chances are that you admire a classic mantel and eat a press peach if you live in the southern half of Alabama. You probably do these things with a fireboard and a cling peach if your home is in north Alabama.

If a summer evening finds you rocking on the gallery instead of the front porch, you're most likely past middle age and living in a southwest corner of the state.

These are some of the findings of Miss Virginia Foscoe, a University of Alabama English instructor who is studying speech patterns in Alabama. Her daily routine consists of analyzing folk terms such as croker sack (south) and tow sack (north), earth worm (south) and redworm (north) in 25 counties.

More precisely, she is mapping out a linguistic geography of Alabama that eventually will be added to M.A. degrees from the Linguistic Atlas of the United States. Certain regions of the South remain the only linguistically unexplored areas of the country in this massive project begun in the 1930's.

From a preliminary vocabulary survey, Miss Foscoe has determined that the words Alabamians use to describe the same objects differ on either side of an imaginary line that bisects the state roughly like the bottom half of a semicircle, with Birmingham at its southernmost point.

North of this mythical line, encompassing about a third of the state, people tend to use the same terms as the people of the southern mountain regions. Southward, the speech resembles that of the Atlantic coastal states.

Establishing that this is so is not enough, Miss Foscoe intends to find out also the ways of vocabulary, pronunciation, verb and pronoun forms from studies of geographic and ethnic settlement by early Alabama pioneers.

All of this will take a long time—she estimates another three years added to the year and a half already spent on the project. The preliminary vocabulary study will constitute a doctoral dissertation for the young teacher. She expects to receive the Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in August. With the general division of speech in the state, the researcher found some surprising and often inexplicable local peculiarities of speech. In one downstate bend of the Alabama River, every respondent used the expression "sick on my stomach," though the accepted phrase elsewhere in the state is "sick at my stomach."

In north Alabama it's trying pan, and down south a skillet, but a few oldtimers on the Gulf Coast still call this useful cooking implement a spider (actually a broad cast iron cooking pan with legs once used in open hearth cookery).

One of the things Miss Foscoe's study turned up was the disturbing fact that Alabama's colorful local expressions and idioms—like those of the nation as a whole—gradually are dying out.

With millions of Americans criss-crossing the country every year and televised and radio sets in every home, our people are tending to speak more alike.

Linguists believe that before many generations have passed, everyone will use the vocabulary and pronunciation of what they call Midland, that English usage now found in the east coast, central interior of the country.

Miss Foscoe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Foscoe of Coatsop, Alabama, received B.A. and M.A. degrees from the Capstone. She has been on the faculty at the University since 1963.

Small Farms Exempted From Cotton Signup

The signup to be held soon for the 1965 Domestic Allotment Program for Upland Cotton will be only for operators of farms where the domestic allotment is less than the effective allotment, Mr. Roy L. Ellis, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced today. This is a change from original sign-up plans. The signup began February 8 and continues through March 26.

This means that the operators of small farms—where the effective allotment is 15 acres or less and no acreage is released—do not need to sign up in order to receive the benefits of this years domestic allotment program.

On these farms which include the majority of farms in Coffee County, the domestic allotment is the same as the effective allotment and plantings need not be reduced in order to participate in the domestic allotment program.

The only change that has been made is that small farmers are not required to sign an agreement to participate. Payment will be made to these farms if the acreage of cotton is within the domestic allotment.

The chairman explained that it has been decided to limit the signup to the operators of larger farms with cotton allotments of more than 15 acres. This will not only save small operators from the trouble of signing up, but it will enable county office personnel to spend more time helping the operators of the larger farms to understand the cotton oversupply situation and the urgency of the domestic allotment program in many cases, taking part in the program could also guarantee these farmers more net farm income from cotton in 1965.

All upland cotton farmers who participate in the 1965 domestic allotment program will be eligible for price-support payments at 4.35 cents a pound on the normal yield of cotton established for the farm times the acreage planted for harvest.

In addition, the upland cotton crop from such farms will be eligible for price-support loans at 29 cents per pound for middling 1-1/2 inch cotton, gross weight, at average location. Cotton from farms which are not participating in the domestic allotment program will be eligible for cotton loans if the acreage is kept within the effective farm allotment, but no price-support payments will be made to growers on such farms.

Poultry Queen Contest Now Underway

The 1965 Alabama Poultry Queen Contest is now underway. Five state district eliminations will be held in March with the state finals to be held in Birmingham on May 7-8 at which time the 1965 Alabama Poultry Queen will be crowned. Three winners will be selected in each of the five districts to compete in the finals.

First place winner—the new Alabama Poultry Queen for 1965—will receive a $1,000.00 scholarship to the Alabama college or university of her choice plus $250.00 cash and a $250.00 wardrobe. Second place winner will receive $250.00 cash and 3rd place $100.00 cash. All entries in the State finals will receive a nice gift.

Contestants are to be judged on beauty of face and figure and for charm, poise, personality and some knowledge of the poultry industry. Ages 18 to 28 years as of July 1.

Plans are in the making to set up regional and or a National Poultry Queen contest in which the Alabama Poultry Queen may participate. (The Alabama Poultry Industry Association is not renewing its franchise with Miss Universe this year.)

Entry forms may be secured from your local County Poultry Association officers, or by writing direct to the Alabama Poultry Industry Association, P.O. Box 567 Montgomery, Alabama.

SPECIAL SCHOOL LEGISLATIVE SESSION

WALLACE URGES SPEEDY PASSAGE OF PROPOSALS

"In the final analysis, when we talk about public school education, we are talking about a present obligation to the future—we are talking about a challenge," said Governor Wallace.

These were the words of Governor George C. Wallace as he challenged the Alabama Legislature to thrust Alabama into the forefront of education. The Governor spoke to a joint session of the lawmakers Tuesday night.

He said there is a "tendency to get bogged down in figures and percentages when talking about school programs." He reminded them, however, that "When we consider problems of public school education, we are talking about children—your children and mine. We are talking about our own hopes and aspirations, and in some measure, our determination to respond to their needs and fulfill our aspirations."

Governor Wallace said the results of a study financed by the 1959 legislature formed the basis for his educational platform in the race for Governor.

Warr To Attend SE Congress Of Optometry

Barksdale Replaces Brunson As Speaker

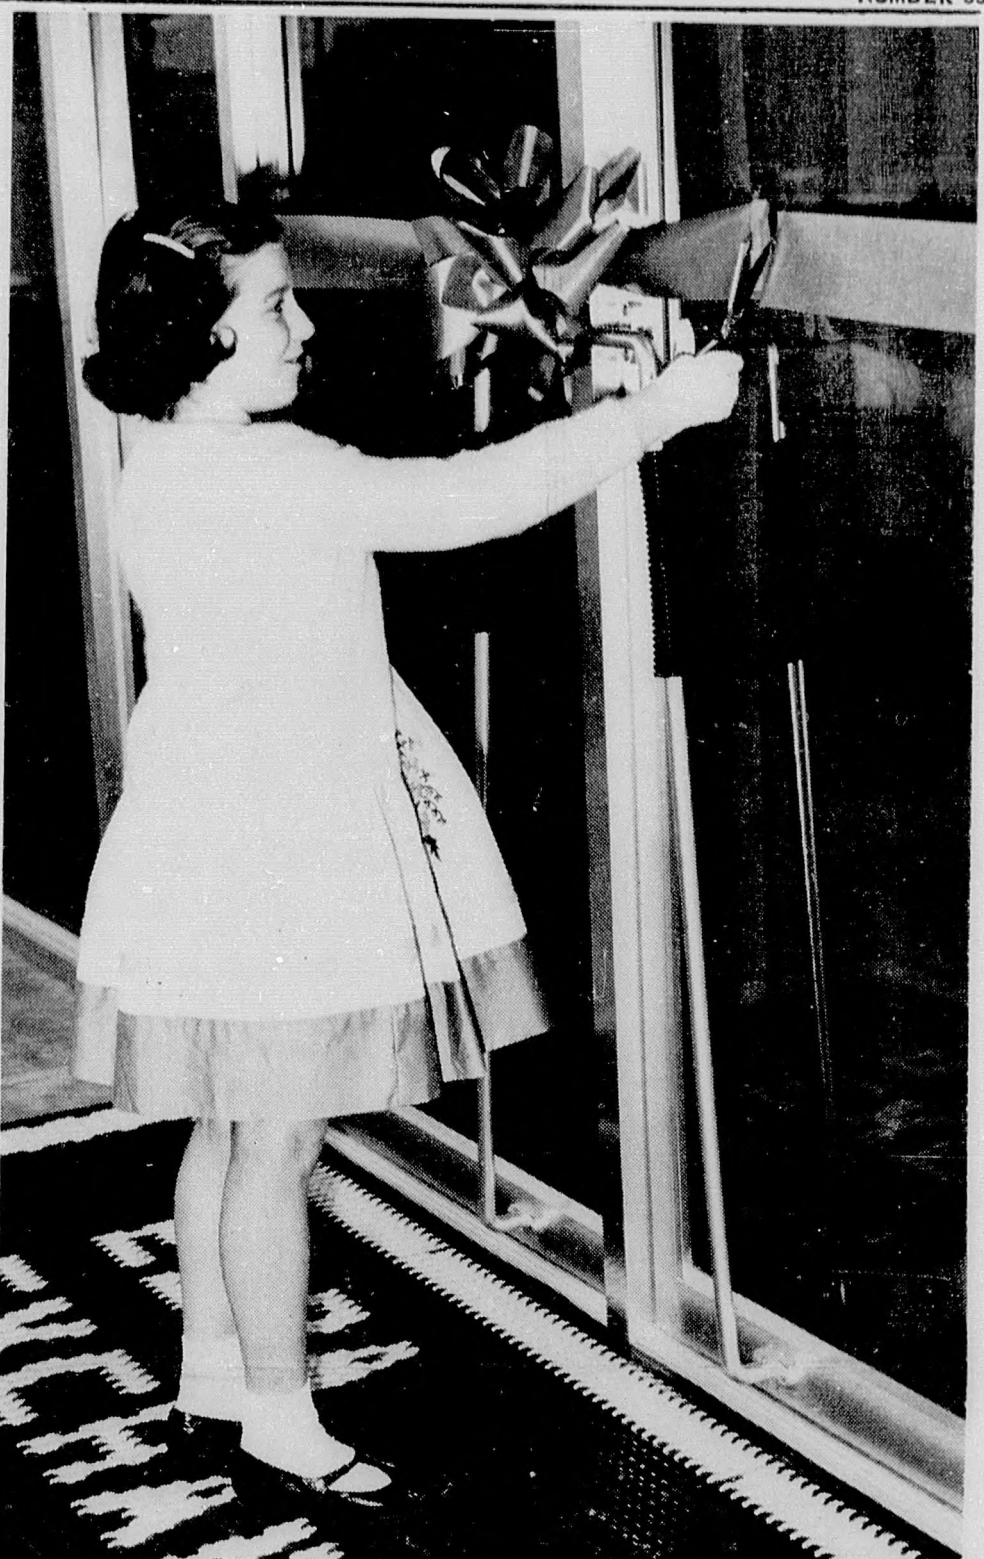

Because of an unexpected call to Washington, Paul Rowe Brunson was unable to be the speaker at the Elba Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night. Coming to speak to the Chamber was James Clyde Barksdale, who has been affiliated with the Small Business Administration since August 1959, serving as Loan Specialist in the Loan Processing Unit of the Birmingham office and he also serves as Acting Supervisory Loan Specialist in charge of Loan Processing. Brunson was appointed Regional Director of the Small Business Administration of Alabama last year.

Mrs. Lamar Rainer, Jr., Vice President of the Elba Teachers' Association, and Elmer Taylor, Superintendent, attended the Assembly of Delegates meeting at the Whitley Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama, February 5 and 6. More than five hundred delegates from over the state attended the two day sessions. Committee meetings were held on Friday afternoon and Friday night, discussing the proposed school program of Governor George Wallace.

Following a breakfast on Saturday morning, the delegates voted to back Governor Wallace's school proposals, plus a $10 million bond issue for school construction.

Before adjournment, Dr. Austin Meadows, State Superintendent of Education, called for a vote on a resolution urging a special legislative session for schools.
